

SAFETY PROTOCOLS

AS THE TRADESHOW INDUSTRY BEGINS ITS RETURN TOWARDS NORMALCY

Rosemont Exposition Services is committed to the wellbeing and protection of our workers and guests, and we are doing everything possible to create a safe and comfortable business environment for all attendees and exhibitors.

While RES has always prioritized public safety, health, and cleanliness, we have recently implemented various protocols using guidelines outlined by the Centers for Disease Controls (CDC), the State of Illinois, and the Village of Rosemont.

AS A SERVICE CONTRACTOR

- ◆ We will require that all RES employees wear a mask at all times while working within the Convention Center
- ◆ We will screen all RES employees as they report to work for temperature irregularities and symptoms of illness
- ◆ We will educate all employees on methods of reducing the spread of the Covid-19 infection per the CDC guidelines
- ◆ We will encourage all RES employees to wash their hands frequently, and will have hand washing stations readily available in areas of the facility where employees congregate
- ◆ We will participate in regular update calls and meetings with the Rosemont Public Safety Department and Rosemont Health Department to ensure that we are following the latest guidelines
- ◆ We will install hand sanitizer devices at the end of each aisle and in each of the common areas throughout the facility
- ◆ We will place informational signage throughout the facility outlining social distancing guidelines, facility practices and safety protocols
- ◆ We will have a supply of facial masks available at no cost to any attendee, exhibitor, employee or group which may require them

Recent scientific studies suggest that the majority of transmitted Covid-19 infections between otherwise healthy humans are the result of moisture expelled from the mouth during conversation, and that the likelihood of contracting the infection from another person when both parties are wearing facial protection is substantially reduced. These points will be more relevant as we move back into social and business contact with others.

It is important that we all work together to insure that CDC guidelines and procedures are followed by all for the safety of all, and that concerns about face to face contact in this 'new normal' are minimized to the greatest extent possible. Our goal is to ensure that your visit is safe, memorable, and beneficial to you and your company.
